Norway Peace Plan Wins UN Favor

City May Act To End Battle On Sales Tax

Token Payment Suggested, Council Not Enthusiastic

In an attempt to hold the Riverside County League of Cities together, Palm Springs City Councilman Leonard Wolf suggested that Palm Springs may make a "token donation" to Riverside County in order to halt the hassel between the city of Corona and this city.

The gesture by Councilman Wolf is not backed by a majority of the council, but at times members of the city council have observed that "something should be done to stop the haggling that would kill the Bradley-Burns act in Riverside County."

CORONA LAST NIGHT set its tax rate at $1.36 and is using its taxes collected by the state under the Bradley-Burns Act as part of the operating funds. The state will continue to collect the tax until January 1.

Palm Springs City Manager Robert W. Peterson and Corona City Manager Ralph Phiffner, said today that they are attempting to set up a meeting between the two city councils "to talk over the problems." Peterson said that the meeting will be called for sometime in September and Phiffner said that the Corona Council would be glad to come to Palm Springs to "talk it over."

It is the general feeling of the League members that if the sales tax program fails, so will the Riverside County League of Cities which was formed as a united front for the Sales Tax issue.

AT THE TIME the cities signed the sales tax agreement, it was agreed by the members of the League, including Corona, that Palm Springs would not have to contribute to the County of Riverside. Palm Springs showed that they realized only 4 per cent increase from the state collection method, and that if they gave 10 per cent, it would mean that Palm Springs would have to dig into its treasury for the additional 6 per cent. The six per cent would have to be made up by Palm Springs taxpayers.

Corona has indicated that they would like to stand by "just to find out how the Board of Supervisors will handle the situation" and have given the Supervisors notice that they intend to withdraw from their agreement in the Bradley-Burns Act. They must give the state notice of their intention by Oct. 1.

THE CONTEST

is in keeping with the resort city's proudest claim — that of being the swimming capital of the world. Everyone knows that swimming is the one sport which develops the legs and arm muscles, and where else but in Palm Springs, where there are more swimming pools per capita than anywhere else in the world, should judges be able to find any more trimmer or beautiful legs.

Saund to Introduce Indian Land Bill Again Next Year

Measure Fails to Win O.K.

In a letter to City Clerk Mary G. Ringwald, Congressman D. S. Saund reported from Washington receipt of the Resolution of the City of Palm Springs on behalf of the Agua Caliente Band of Mission Indians equalization bill and said that he would re-introduce the bill in Congress next year.

The Congressman's letter said that on August 6, the Bill, Resolution No. 13323, was "passed over" by the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee because of the "unfavorable report of the Bureau of Indian Affairs."

Under such circumstances, the committee cannot approve any bill without extensive hearings.

"Please inform the City Council that I intend to reintroduce the bill in the next Congress, beginning January, 1959," wrote Congressman Saund. "I shall request the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee to hold a hearing, preferably in Palm Springs."

As an added note, the Congressman asked that "the City Council be assured that I am fully cognizant of the problem the city faces in regard to Palm Springs Airport. I was glad to include in the proposed HR 13323 a provision to solve this problem and I shall do everything I can to affect a solution."

Bonanza Names New Chief Pilot For Air System

Bonanza Air Lines' Vice President of Operations, Myron W. Reynolds, today appointed Paul A. Beach System Chief Pilot for Bonanza Air Lines.

Beach formerly held the position of division supervising pilot for four years. In his new position he will be director of the 71 active pilots now flying for Bonanza Air Lines, plus assuming the added responsibilities of training and coordination of Civil Aeronautics Authority policies for the company.

Prior to joining Bonanza Air Lines six years ago, Beach flew as a captain for another scheduled airline and served with the Air Transport Command in China, Burma, and India during World War II. Beach was one of the group of technical personnel of Bonanza Air Lines who analyzed various aircraft throughout the world prior to Bonanza's selection of the F-2 "Silver Dart" propjet, which Bonanza Air Lines has purchased to replace its DC-3 fleet.

Beach will coordinate all pilot and technical training on this project.

Beach, a native of Missouri, and his wife, Kay, make their home in Las Vegas and are the parents of two children.

A survey by the Twentieth Century Fund came to the conclusion that there are about 2,800 different languages in the world.

New Packaged Home Product Offered Today

A new "packaged home" project was launched today by the George Alexander Construction Company, builders of the city's new Vista Las Palmas tract.

Sales Manager Gordon Kirkwood said the new project offers Vista Las Palmas homes as complete units, including landscaping, furnishings, and even television.

A 317-foot bridge to carry eastbound expressway traffic over the

Hi-Fi, china, silver, linens "and a chilled bottle of champagne for the housewarming."

Kirkwood said the plan is particularly directed at out-of-state buyers who may not wish to take the time to furnish their homes.

A model Vista Las Palmas "package" is now open for inspection at 815 Camino del Sur.

Marines Want Road Capable of Handling Needs

MCB, 29 Palms, Calif. — In a letter to the Twentynine Palms Chamber of Commerce, Brigadier General R. M. Victory, Commanding General, Marine Corps Base, made the following statements regarding this Base's views on the proposed super highway to be built from the junction of U.S. Highways 60-70-99 to Morongo Valley.

"The Base does not support any specific road development proposal, but is vitally interested in seeing a road constructed that is capable of withstanding the demands of military traffic. Any road development plan or proposal that will provide a freeway type road and eliminate the dips, curves and steep grades that exist on the present road would be beneficial to the Base. Since this route carries the bulk of the military and civilian traffic, any restrictions during construction that impede the flow of traffic should be kept to a minimum. Another desirable road feature from a military standpoint is the desirability of an overpass at the junction of Highway 60-70-99, to assist military vehicles in convoys leaving and entering the present freeway."

In closing, the General mentioned that he would appreciate any effort on the part of the local Chamber of Commerce in keeping him informed of progress in regard to the highway.

STATE CALLS FOR BIDS ON HIGHWAY PROJECT

Another move to bring Desert Area residents closer to the County seat at Riverside, was announced Monday as the state Division of Highways called for bids for construction of a $1,100,000 expressway project on U.S. 60 west of Beaumont.

The 4.8-mile project will be constructed west of the junction of U.S. 60 with U.S. 70 and 99 and provide a four lane expressway. Bids will be opened in Los Angeles on September 18.

A 317-foot bridge to carry eastbound expressway traffic over the

Marines Want Road Capable of Handling Needs

Radio Station KCMJ today launched its newest and biggest contest — a "musical alphabet" that offers a total of 140 merchandise prizes to resort winners.

The new "A-B-C" contest involves the spinning of an alphabet wheel five times a day. The announcer on duty then telephones a desert resident whose last name starts with the initial on which the wheel stopped.

Station Manager Norman Lofthus said that each listener contacted wins a prize. The contest will run for four weeks and involves eleven participating desert area business firms.

Contest entry blanks will be available at these shops, Lofthus said.

If You're Thinking of Buying New Home Now is the Time to Act Declare Experts

By EDWARD VOWAN
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Buy now the experts say, if you're thinking about getting a house.

To a man, banking and housing authorities here agree that interest rates and new home prices have touched bottom for the foreseeable future. Mortgage money, meanwhile, continues in abundant supply.

HOW LONG BEFORE borrowing costs start turning up is one on which the experts hesitate to speculate. They agree, however, that with mortgage interest rates traditionally more sluggish than others, no noticeable upturn is likely before autumn.

But they also agree that the recent easing of rates and the availability of loan money has ended.

"Families today are getting a better buy in the housing market than they were just a year ago," W. Franklin Morrison, president of the National League of Insured Savings associations, told United Press International. "But how long this will continue is a matter of serious question."

MORRISON NOTED that half of this year's output of new houses is selling for $14,300, compared to a median price of $15,000 in 1957. "The builders have been hungry. They've been going all out" was the way one authoritative building industry source explained it. "But with materials, prices and wages rising they're going to change their tune."

MOST OPINION that the 1958 drop in interest rates has ended was based on the recent dive in prices in the government securities market. Another indication comes from the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) which reported an increase of one-tenth of a point from July 1 to Aug. 1 in prices paid for FHA-insured mortgages traded in the secondary market. That gain compared with an average rise of three-tenths of a point per month in the first six months of the year.

The experts agree that mortgage money is still plentiful for qualified borrowers. The National Association of Real Estate Boards found an "ample" supply of funds for conventional financing in 80 per cent of the nation.

Visual Newspaper Reporting: Photographers In the Court Room

The American Bar Association will meet in Los Angeles this month, and it will be asked to modify its Canon 35 of the Canons of Judicial Ethics. This prohibits the taking of photographs in the courtroom during the progress of judicial proceedings, or during any recess thereof.

The National Press Photographers Association urges a new canon on this subject, to include the following paragraph:

"Where, therefore, in the opinion of the judge presiding at a trial or hearing, it appears that photographs can be taken by accredited press photographers without interfering with the regular and customary procedure of the trial or hearing in that court, and without creating any misconceptions with regard thereto, such photographs may be taken therein during the course of the trial or proceeding, as may be permitted by said court."

The sole question at issue is whether the presence of the news photographer with noiseless and unobtrusive equipment, along with the word reporter, distract or detract from the dignity of the court.

The best argument why Canon 35 should be modified to permit press photographers to cover trials, was written by a justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, Hon. Michael A. Musmanno, who said:

"Freedom of the press means to gather news, write it, print it and circulate it. If any of these operations is inhibited, freedom of the press becomes an empty phrase. Gathering of news includes photographing of the news, printing of photographs and reproduction of photographs in the finished newspaper. To prohibit the taking of photographs is no less an infringement of the freedom of the press than to prohibit the presence of a news reporter. . . . Would it be argued, on the basis of privacy, that news reporter could be prohibited from giving a written description of a defendant or witness at a trial? . . . ## Getting a Penny's Worth!

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Vernon J. Veritas, who always tells the truth, has trouble getting a penny's worth of value for his thoughts. Mr. Veritas has been around Washington trying with little success to sell some publisher a truthful summary of the 85th Congress. Let's have a look at some of your wares, Mr. Veritas.

"Well," said the old truth-teller, "we read and hear a lot of hand-capped these days about hand-capped persons. I have here a column on two handicapped U. S. Senators—Stuart Symington and Jack Kennedy."

Was Mr. Veritas sure about those names?

"THE WAY I see it," said Veritas, who cannot tell a lie, "Symington has been forced to surmount one of the greatest obstacles a public man can face. He is too handsome and he has too much charm. These qualities are all right in a professional actor or even in a public figure who has nothing else except photogenetics and skin deep profundity. Would you like some examples? I have a list of names of men with 'Bon.' in front of their names and nothing whatever behind the eyes. Among the biggest dumbbells in prominent places are—"

No, please. Just stick to the main subject.

"THE POINT is that Symington from his years of experience in important jobs and his concentrated attention on military aviation has accumulated a store of knowledge and understanding which is completely belied by his profile and his winning ways with people. May I stray from the subject to the extent of giving an historical example?"

Why not?

"Henry L. Mencken once told the columnist whom I know best why it was that Senator Arthur Vandenberg could never be President of the United States.

Mencken said that Vandenberg was an intelligent man who carried the curse of looking like one. It is equally possible for a man to be handicapped with amiable good looks which distract people's attention from his more important assets."

You also mentioned Senator Kennedy. What's his handicap?

"LACK OF MONEY," said Veritas. "I know you will say that Kennedy has plenty of money of his own, but that is a severe drawback in politics. There are legal and ethical limits to what a man can contribute to his own campaign. In politics, money repels money. Can you imagine the difficulty of a campaign treasurer trying to raise funds for Kennedy? Or Harriman? Or Rockefeller? But Kennedy has another handicap in addition to his wealth."

That would be his religion?"

"ON THE CONTRARY," said Vernon J. Veritas who never confuses old wives' tales with veracity. "Kennedy's Catholicism is one of the best political assets he has. I can steer you to Southern Senators who will tell you that the South has been waiting for years to live down the disgraceful treatment of Al Smith. Besides, Al was a Tammany politico and a realist, and the world was a great deal nearer barbarism in 1928 than today. The South would jump at a chance to cleanse its record by voting for a clean-cut war hero and best-selling author who happens to be Catholic."

So, what is Kennedy's handicap?

"MAYBE THERE'S no such thing in politics as an honest man," said Veritas. "Or maybe all politicians are as honest as their profession allows. But among my candidates for most relatively honest would be Senator William Langer, the maverick Republican from North Dakota."

Would you say why?

"Well, last winter the columnist whom I know best wrote a wonderful piece on Langer, and let me tell you what Langer did. The Senator invited the columnist to lunch and said: 'Mr. Alexander, if you write nice things about me, you'll lose all your Republican papers.' A politician can get any more honest than that."

Mr. Veritas, as always, was speaking nothing but the truth.

—Holmes Alexander

"HIS LOYALTY," said Veritas who sees to the heart of such matters. "Kennedy had a friend named Joe McCarthy, now deceased. If Kennedy would betray and renounce this dead friend, Mrs. Roosevelt and the liberals would carry him on their shoulders to the Democratic capitol."

So, what is Kennedy's handicap?

"DEAR NEIGHBOR": This fox old woman proclaimed DOLLAR DAY and got him a bargain. At 50, a man is not ancient — nor is he harmless. Keep your distance.

DEAR ABBY: The man who lives next door is fat and jolly. He's ancient. He must be in his fifties. He keeps telling me what a knock-out I am and how he envies the lucky man who marries me. He is married himself. He bet me a dollar he could get both his hands around my waist and he won. Do you think he is harmless or should I watch out?

NEIGHBOR GIRL

DEAR NEIGHBOR: This fox old woman proclaimed DOLLAR DAY and got him a bargain.

At 50, a man is not ancient — nor is he harmless. Keep your distance.

DEAR ABBY: How does a person go about telling her best friend that she is spoiling her daughter (aged 6) rotten? My friend's child is the worst behaved child I (or my friends) have ever seen. During a bridge game she will sit in her mommie's lap the whole time whining and pestering her mother. She is constantly interrupting the game by asking for gum, candy and soft drinks. The rest of the girls and I are ready to scream but we like this woman so much we don't want to hurt her feelings. I would appreciate any suggestions you have for improving the situation.

READY TO SCREAM

DEAR READY: "Mommie" is in need of a friendly suggestion and if you are her best friend, you are elected: Her child (like all normal children) will get away with as much as she can if Mommie can't discipline her, she should visit a child counseling service and get a few pointers.

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago I was engaged to marry a fellow who was in OCS. The date for our wedding was set and my parents bought me an imported lace wedding gown. My fiance was killed in a training accident. It took me two years to get over it, then I became engaged to another fellow. This time, to be perfectly honest, the man jilted me. I am now engaged to marry a wonderful man and we are both sure this is "it." My parents insist that I wear the first wedding gown they bought me. I am not superstitious, but I can't even look at that gown without feeling sick. They paid a lot of money for it and I think I am being foolish. Please tell me if I'm wrong? I'll wear it if you say so.

MIXED EMOTIONS

DEAR MIXED: No one should blame you for feeling the way you do about the original wedding gown with all its unhappy memories. Sell it or give it away—but don't wear it. Buy a less expensive one for this happy occasion and good luck!

CONFIDENTIAL TO JERRY: It is not enough to boast that you've never "burt a fly" — what have you done lately to HELP one?

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

All right, so that's terrible. So you try to write one.

Was feeling pretty good when I sat down to slave over a hot typewriter for Tuesday's column.

But just then Cliff Miller of Radio KDES signed off for the day.

And his parting words were:

"Today the maximum was 108. Right now the temperature outside of the KDES office is 96."

That did it. Because his office is just a few feet from where I am sitting.

That's why the above.

But I understand Harry is planning on a few billboards of his own.

He's going to erect them next Spring during the wildflower season.

They will proclaim to the passing motorist public:

"We are 'wild west' wildflowers. Please do not pick us."

"We want to die with our roots on."

TODAY IS A BIG DAY in aviation circles.

It's the birthday of Orville Wright.

Too bad that it was preceeded by just a few days by that tragic crash of the KLM airliner off the coast of Ireland.

And now look at them! They tell me that with the new jets you'll be able to beat the sun across the nation.

TODAY'S SPORT PARADE

By JACK CUDDY
United Press International

LOS ANGELES — (UPI) — You may argue all you want that the breakup of the Pacific Coast Conference is a black eye for college football, but the big powers of the Far West feel it was either "bust up" or be driven out of the entertainment business by the pro Rams and the Dodgers.

Out here where fans think nothing of driving a few hundred miles to a sports event, willingly shell out $4 to $5 for a seat, and have become accustomed to the festive atmosphere of 100,000-seat stadiums, there's little mourning for the demise of the old PCC.

The four big California schools — UCLA, Southern California, California and Stanford — and the University of Washington figure eventually to wind up making nothing but money as a result of the dissolution of the conference.

IF THEY HAD NOT taken this drastic step, their football games almost certainly would have wound up as second-rate attractions to the tremendously popular pro Rams and the newly-acquired Dodgers. And say what you will, a successful college football team pays the bill for the rest of the entire athletic program, keeps influential alumni happy, and generally maintains the popularity and the enrollment level of an educational institution.

The bickering, recruiting scandals, FBI - checkups practices on certain schools, and the poor gate appeal of conference weak sisters like Idaho, Washington State and Oregon made the breakup necessary if the big colleges were to maintain big - time football programs.

FIRMLY MAINTAINING "there's nothing woe 'Name' opponents 'Southern California' football fans are entitled to see the best teams," says athletic director Jess Hill. "And 100,000-seat stadiums are attractive to the best teams. Our athletic program must be built along lines that will enable us to meet the best opponents."

UCLA and Southern Cal play their home games in the 103,000-seat Los Angeles Coliseum; Stanford's stadium seats 89,000, California's 82,000 and Washington's 55,500.

To fill these parks Saturday after Saturday when they begin "free-lancing" in 1958, the West Coast powers have ditched their weaker PCC rivals which often failed to attract much more than an audible cheering section and replaced them with the biggest "name" schools in college football.

Next Title Defense in England

By JACK CUDDY
United Press International
LOS ANGELES — (UPI) — Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, dissatisfied with his gory title knockout over Roy Harris, said today, "I want to get busy now, and so I may defend soon in England."

The champion believed he should have disposed of game Harris, from Cut and Shoot, Tex., before the 12th round Monday night, even though the kayo in that session had tagged the blood-smeared challenger with his first defeat in 23 bouts.

Floyd's victory before an estimated 17,000 at Wrigley Field was his 15th knockout in his last 16 fights. But he was dissatisfied with his own trip to the canvas in the second round and displeased because his bleeding opponent had survived four knockdowns.

"I want to get busy now," said the 23-year-old champion.

MANAGER CUS, dissatisfied with the gates, Patterson has drawn in his three American defenses, wants a big one now; and he believes London is the place to get it — away from the alleged influence of the International Boxing Club.

"I've got to keep busy to keep sharp," said the unmarked champion who had given Harris such a battering that his own trainer, Bill Gore, asked referee Musky Callahan to stop the bout when the action was finished in the 12th round but before the bell could start the 13th.

Callahan waved his arms in mid-ring, signaling the bout was over. He announced it was a "knockout" in the 12th round. Under California rules, when a bout is stopped to save a fighter from further punishment it is a kayo — not a technical k.o.

At that time the 25-year-old challenger was bleeding profusely from the nose and from cuts on his right brow, his right temple, nose bridge and left eyelid.

HARRIS MADE a brave stand against the champion from Mt. Vernon, N. Y., but he was outgunned. Patterson's right hand smashes to the body began to weaken him as early as the third round.

A right to the chin put Harris down for the count of eight in the seventh. A left-right combination dropped him for "seven" and a right for "three" in the eighth. Another right to the chin floored him for "nine" in the 12th. And a smashing left hook sent him reeling across the ring, just before the bell ended action in the 12th.

THE CHAMPION may receive more than his guaranteed $210,000 through his percentage provisos, because at late surge of fans to Wrigley Field provided an estimated gate of $200,000 and early reports from the Teleprompter Corporation indicated theater-TV receipts at 151 theaters in 133 cities would approximate one million dollars.

Harris will receive a flat guaranteed $100,000 for his battering.

The 6-1 underdog was far behind when the bout was stopped. Musky Callahan favored Patterson, 117-97. Judge Tommy Hart agreed, 117-98; likewise, Judge Frankie Van, 108-102. Van gave Harris two rounds, the first and second. The United Press International gave him only the second.

It was Patterson's 34th victory in 35 fights and his 26th knockout.

Dunn's Homer In Ninth Saves Game for Locals

With one out in the ninth inning and the local cause seemingly lost Paul Dunn unloaded his first home run of the year at the Polo Grounds Saturday night to give M&M-Lehfeld a thrilling 3-2 win over the visiting Shuff's Cleaners from Lakewood.

M&M had trailed since the fourth inning when the visitors got two runs and while they were getting men on base inning after inning they just couldn't seem to score them.

Then after Dee DiGrandi had a single, Dunn came up and hit the second pitch into deep right center field and brought in one M&M-Lehfeld player, Bill Tichenor, and Tom Eavary each got one hit.

The M&M-Lehfeld Insurance team will play Coachell Valley Telephone tomorrow at 8:45 at Evans Field in Riverside.

A small crowd had watched M&M take the lead very early in the game when Tom Every singled and scored on two Shuff's errors. The visitors took a 2-1 lead in the fourth frame, however, when Joe Zepeda doubled and Jim Arasini tripled.

Besides Dunn, Bill Tichenor, M&M pitcher, was the other hero of the evening. Tichenor struck out nineteen of the highly regarded Shuff's batters and except for the fourth inning had complete control of the situation. He allowed only three hits.

M&M batters did better at the expense of three opposing pitchers, getting eight hits of which seven were singles.

Los Angeles Hosts Braves in Coliseum

World Champs to Meet Dodgers in Five-Game Series

LOS ANGELES — (UPI) — The Los Angeles Dodgers, tied for fourth place but trailing league-leading Milwaukee by 14 games, tackle the Braves tonight in a Coliseum doubleheader, first action in a five-game series.

Before their last series with the world champions, the Dodgers had found the Braves their favorite pigeons. Los Angeles still holds a 9-6 edge for the season over the Milwaukee club, as a matter of fact.

But the Braves have won their last seven games and breezed into town with a strong pitching staff and an eight-game lead over second-place San Francisco. This time the Dodgers may be in for trouble.

MANAGER FRED HANEY named Carl Willey (8-3) and Joey Jay (7-4) to start for the Braves, making their last regular season appearance in Los Angeles.

The Dodgers countered with big Don Drysdale (7-11) in the opener which gets underway at 6 p. m., and tabbed lefthanded Johnny Podres (10-10) to start the second game, if he is able.

If not, then rookie Stan Williams (8-7) probably will take the mound for Los Angeles.

MANAGER WAL ALSTON has watched glumly as his list of injured Dodgers increased. Still ailing are Carl Furillo and Don Zimmer with some question about Junior Gilliam.

Gilliam suffered a bruised rib Sunday when he was hit in a pick-off attempt by Sad Sam Jones of the Cardinals. No bones were broken, but he was still a doubtful starter today.

Villagers Win In First Round Of Tournament

Palm Springs M&M Grocery-Al Lehrfeld Insurance team last night routed Richards Jewelry store team of Riverside 3 to 0 in a softball game at Evans Field in Riverside.

Bill Tichenor, Palm Springs pitcher, pitched a two-hitter and struck out 15 men on the Riverside side.

Warren Linville, Palm Springs 2nd base, got 2 hits out of three times at bat, bringing in two runs and while they were getting men on base inning after inning they just couldn't seem to score them.

Then after Dee DiGrandi had a single, Dunn came up and hit the second pitch into deep right center field and brought in one M&M-Lehfeld player, Bill Tichenor, and Tom Eavary each got one hit.

The M&M-Lehfeld Insurance team will play Coachell Valley Telephone tomorrow at 8:45 at Evans Field in Riverside.

Cathedral City Author to Have Book Published

Willard Price, whose new book ROAMING BRITAIN will be published by John Day on August 21, has lived in Cathedral City for many years. So fond he is of travel, that it is difficult to find a time when he is not off with his wife, Virginia, visiting some far-away land. Just now he is in Africa, gathering material for his next book. When he returns from a six-month visit on that continent, he will be able to count more than a hundred countries in which he has travelled.

Mr. Price was born in Canada but came to this country in his youth and attended high school in Cleveland. He also received a B.A. degree from Western Reserve University there. Later he received his Masters degree from Columbia University in New York City. Early in his career he did editorial and publicity work on several different magazines and was for a while Editorial Secretary of the Methodist Board of Foreign Missions. It was during this period, when his work took him to many out-of-the-way places, that he got his first love of foreign travel, and he has been at it ever since — travelling and writing of his experiences. As a free lance writer for the past 34 years, he has produced some 20 books and has contributed to numerous magazines including the Readers Digest, Harper's and The Saturday Evening Post. The majority of his books have been about Asia, but he has also written of South America and the Caribbean as well as Europe and other areas. Among his most popular books are: I CANNOT REST FROM TRAVEL, an autobiography, JOURNEY BY JUNK, THE AMAZING AMAZON and ADVENTURES IN PARADISE.

Undoubtedly a great many of Mr. Price's friends are eagerly awaiting the publication of his newest book, ROAMING BRITAIN. When his publishers some months ago asked him for a list of friends so that they could send announcements on publication date, Mr. Price's reply was succinct: "They smell it out without help."

Showdown Next Month in Virginia School Situation

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — There has been so much confusion about what's likely to happen when schools open in Virginia next month, it might be worth while to look into the situation.

It's serious, all right. It threatens to close several schools and possibly several school systems. It almost certainly will bring the state government into fresh conflict with the federal government. There is the potential here for another Little Rock, although forces on all sides seem to be working feverishly behind the scenes to prevent that.

WHAT'S HAPPENED is that Arlington County — in Washington's front yard — and the cities of Norfolk and Charlottesville have been ordered to desegregate schools when classes open in September. Norfolk might be the spot where actual integration would first be "Little Rock" crossroads.

One of the big question marks in the whole Virginia situation is whether private schools would work. Even the highest state authorities are doubtful. If a considerable number of public schools were closed, there simply would not be enough facilities and teachers to meet the emergency.

Out of the confused puzzle, this is about the best way anyone can put it together at the moment:

The chances are that only a few schools actually will be closed in September. The students from them probably could be absorbed into other schools. Before further crisis, Almond could call a special session of the General Assembly to re-write his strict laws, at least to the extent of preventing the mass closing of schools.

Norfolk might be the spot where they have exhausted appeals from these orders.

But under Virginia law, if any white school accepts Negroes, it would be closed under one of the state's "massive resistance" laws. On the other side is the kind of federal court order that led to the Army being sent to Little Rock last fall.

"I don't know what will happen," said Norfolk Superintendent J. J. Brewbaker. "I don't know even what our position is. The federal courts say you got to admit these kids in school. The state says we can't. So where are we?"

SUPPOSE ONE of the integration-ordered cities should agree to abide by the orders?

Under Gov. Lindsay Almond's "massive resistance" plan, he would assume control of the affected school district, reorganize it and reopen it on a segregated basis. He is talking now in terms of taking up the matter by individual integrated classes, however, rather than entire schools or districts.

If the state failed to get by with the re-opening plan, the school then would be closed. Pupils would be sent to some kind of private school. If only a few pupils were involved, they would be absorbed into other schools and, for the time at least, that would be the end of it.

At that point, however, parents of the Negro litigants are expected to ask the courts again to order the affected school re-opened on an integrated basis. That's where the state of Virginia and the government would be at a test. The school board there has said it will comply with the federal court order and that it could not "guarantee" complete segregation.

Although Arlington has been ordered to admit Negroes who have been named — as they were in Little Rock — to presently all white schools, the pupils will be assigned under the state Public Placement Act. It is expected the Negroes will be assigned to Negro schools although this would be in direct contradiction of the court order.

Charlottesville may attempt to get by with a new school district that would put all Negro pupils in one district.

Norfolk and Charlottesville have their own pupil placement plans under which Negro applicants will have to pass stiff entry requirements. Negroes have challenged the validity of both assignment plans but they have so far been upheld by the courts. A new test of the Norfolk plan is due in federal court this week.

Almond has described the Virginia case as the gravest crisis since the Civil War.
